CHICO TABIBUIA

Francisco Moraes da Silva

1936 - 2007, Casimiro de Abreu - RJ, Brazil

BIOGRAPHY

Francisco Moraes da Silva, known as Chico Tabibuia, was born in 1936 in Casimiro de Abreu, RJ, where he lived until his passing in 2007. His life story is deeply connected to wood and marked by the unique character of his sculptural work. At 22, he began working as a lumberjack along the São João River, cutting tabebuia and jenipapo trees to support his family. The tabebuia tree, which grows exclusively in swamps, became a constant in his life and the primary material of his art. This dense, resilient wood symbolized for Chico the strength and endurance he found in his own journey.

It was only at 40 that Chico Tabibuia returned to sculpture, an activity he had explored as a teenager and that would, from then on, become his main form of expression. His sculptures are infused with elements of magic and eroticism, themes that interlace in his work with a unique sense of dignity and symbolic depth. These two aspects harken back to ancient fertility rites, where art and sensuality intertwine as expressions of the unconscious.

ARTIST'S PORFTOLIO

Geza Roheim, in Magie et Schizophrénie, emphasized that the phallus, symbolized by the erect penis, represents creative energy with “the power to heal and fertilize.” This archetype is evident in Chico’s sculptures, which explore both eroticism and spirituality.

Chico Tabibuia’s sculptures transcend the material; he transforms the tabebuia wood into true entities: some resemble phallic deities, symbols of vital, creative energy; others evoke the image of “great mothers,” expressing a profound connection to ancestry and the sacred. His creations reflect a magical stance, engaging with the unconscious roots of humanity and connecting the viewer to something primitive and timeless, as noted by Nise da Silveira in Images of the Unconscious.

Throughout his life, Chico established himself as one of the great names in Brazilian folk art. In each carving and form, he preserved the symbolic power and vitality of the wood, transforming it into a bearer of stories, myths, and desires that transcend time.

THE GALLERY

Established in 2004 in São Paulo, Brazil, Galeria Estação inaugurated a curatorial program serving a wide-reaching community of noncanonical artistic voices. By creating trans-generational bridges between emerging contemporary and pioneering self-taught artists, Galeria Estação has inspired an integrative network of creative figures and makers from varied geographies and educational backgrounds.

Since 2008, the gallery's innovative artistic program, housed in a state-of-the-art architectural building, has exhibited contemporary Brazilian artists whose cultural backgrounds and vernacular practices complement the primacy of self-taught art —examining the country's under represented artistic styles, working methods, and historical narratives and legacies.

Galeria Estação's artistic director and founder, Vilma Eid, in collaboration with a distinguished group of invited guest curators, have proposed unexpected dialogues in presentations that have transcended traditional accounts of the development of abstract and figural genres in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries, initiating the past and present of Brazilian art. As a result, Galeria Estação is an institutional reference in Brazil, a force for preserving Latin American memories and narratives otherwise dismissed, marginalized, or overlooked in the historiographies of Brazilian art.

Galeria Estação advances its mission to provide unprecedented opportunities for viewers to experience expansive local and global visions of Brazilian art.

Galeria Estação exhibits a large stable of self-taught artists: Agnaldo dos Santos, Agostinho Batista de Freitas, Amadeo Luciano Lorenzato, Artur Pereira, Chico da Silva, Chico Tabibuia, Conceição dos Bugres, Elza O.S, Geraldo Teles Oliveira – G.T.O, Gilvan Samico, Heitor dos Prazeres, Itamar Julião, Izabel Mendes da Cunha, José Antonio da Silva, Madalena dos Santos Reinbolt, Maria Auxiliadora, Mirian Inês da Silva, Sebastião Theodoro Paulino da Silva – Ranchinho, Zica Bergami.

The growing roster of contemporary artists include: André Ricardo, Deni Lantz, Eduardo Ver, Germana Monte-Mór, José Bezerra, Julio Vilani, Santídio Pereira, Cicero Alves dos Santos - Véio.
